

Senior Energy Engineer

London - Hybrid Working

Up to £75,000

Direct report to the Sustainability Director

Are you ready to lead decarbonisation and performance modelling in a rapidly growing team?

We are working with a specialist sustainability consultancy, which grew by 40% last year and are looking for a Senior Energy Engineer to join their award winning consultancy. This is a role for an experienced Energy Engineer who is highly competent with IES modelling and has a strong passion for building standards and large scale decarbonisation strategies. If you are looking for a stable yet dynamic environment where your technical input directly shapes the sustainable built environment, this is your next step.

The Senior Energy Engineer will:

- Act as the lead for IES modelling across a variety of high-performance projects.
- Drive decarbonisation initiatives and navigate complex building standards mostly related to sustainability aspects.
- Oversee the energy performance aspects of projects from initial concept through to completion.
- Support the development of junior engineers, sharing expertise in thermal modelling.
- Act as a technical authority in client meetings, providing advice on energy reduction.

We are looking for a Senior Energy Engineer with:

- 5 - 10 years of relevant UK experience within the engineering consultancy sector,
- Advanced proficiency in IES modelling,
- A broad understanding of decarbonisation and building standards.
- A relevant degree in Building Services, Energy Engineering, or a similar field.
- Experience using ApacheHVAC software (desirable).

The Package

- Private health insurance through Vitality, including access to their Employee Assistance Programme (EAP).
- Performance holiday, one Friday a month off if company financial targets are met (non-contractual discretionary arrangement).
- Ability to buy or sell up to 5 days of holiday within any year.
- Contributory pension scheme.
- Electric car salary sacrifice scheme and Cycle to work scheme.
- Interest free season ticket loan for public transport.
- Enhanced maternity and paternity cover.
- Professional membership fees are covered annually.

If of interest, please apply today and one of the teams from One Generation will get back to you shortly!
